New Draftables Assigned Numbers

Three more boys will go from this district on August 1 for their year or more of training in the United States Army. They are all students who were deferred until the close of their school year.

Thomas P. Rockwell, 676 Osgood street, No. Andover, number 33, is next in line. He is the son of Samuel Rockwell of the draft board. With him will go Anthony Kapeika, 17 Harkaway road, North Andover, number 190. Also scheduled to go on August first is John E. Haggerty, Andover street, Ballardvale, number 349, but he is taking a state bar exam on that day and will be allowed to go the day following instead.

All men over 28 are being automatically deferred at present until such time as Congress disappoves legislation making such deferment mandatory. The chances are however that Congress will approve this legislation as army authorities have found men over that age incapable of easily making the necessary adjustments.

And the new twenty-oners will soon start to go.

They are being intermingled with the remaining list, one for every fourteen. Last Thursday night the lottery was held in Washington, as a result of which the local board has given the following order numbers:

S-683, San Rosario Benigo; S-697, Harold W. Brearley; S-711, John J. Calzetta; S-725, Scot Van Schoick Walker; S-739, William H. Rockwell; S-53, Francis T. Connolly; S-766, Robert L. Local C. C. C. Camp Closes July 28

Only a group of buildings and a Cooks' and Bakers' Training school will remain in Harold Parker State Forest after July 28 as the sole remnant of what was once a thriving C. C. C. camp. The local camp is to be broken up, with the C. C. C. men to be scattered to other New England camps, whose ranks have been depleted by increased business and military activity.

There are 40 students at the present time at the Cooks' and Bakers' training school which has been operating here two of the C. C. C's eight years. Second Lieutenant James Hickey, who has been in charge, has been transferred to Camp Devens, but William G. Williams, C. C. C. inspector, will be in charge.

All the fire-fighting equipment, trucks and other machinery will remain.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

William Winfield, 18 Sandler Terrace, Haverhill and Mildred Gordon, 10 Central street, Andover.

Franklin A. Smith, 5 George street, Andover, and Sylvia C. Broderick, 122 Stevens street, North Andover.

Children's Aluminum Drive Big Success

Over 200 children were scheduled to go to the playground picnic at Canobie lake this morning ,and it didn't cost them a cent. These 200 were given free tickets because they had succeeded in collecting at least ten pieces of aluminum each to aid in obtaining Andover's aluminum quota, most of which is now piled high in a chicken wire bin at the fire station.

Monday was aluminum day for the children. Starting about two they flocked to the fire station to toss in their pots and pans. But the climax was in the evening, when an aluminum parade was held from the playground to the bin. Children from the Vale and the Shawsheen playgrounds also came, the school bus drivers having offered their services and facilities. Each child in the parade was given a ticket to the Kiwanis circus in Lawrence.

Not all the aluminum was carried in the parade; it was too much for the children, so a truck was sent up to the playground to gather the left-overs.

The Legion color guard and the Bugle andDrum corps juniors led the parade, with playground instructor James Doherty as chief marshal. The delegations from the three playgrounds followed, carrying placards, flags, etc. At the town house, Town clerk George H. Winslow, local head of the aluminum drive, received the youngsters and then they besieged the bin.

Commander George S. Napier headed the Legion delegation, followed by Color Sergeant George Wilcox, color guard Edward Northam and Whelton Muise and color bearers Harold L. Peters and Frank Markey.

Rev. Mr. Morris Called for Service

Rev. Albert C. Morris announced Sunday that he had been called for service as an army chaplain with the 301st Field Artillery at For DuPont in Delaware. He will leave shortly.

EMERGENCY DRIVE

An emergency drive has been instituted by the local Red Cross to finish the quota for surgical dressings by August 1. The November club rooms will be open Monday evening, from 7 to 10; Tuesday, 9 to 4, and 7 to 10; Wednesday, 9 to 4; Thursday, 9 to 4. Everyone who can possibly come is urged to do so.

Babies Delight Playground Audiences

You have to be young, but it doesn't matter whether you're male or female. Up at the Central playground last Friday night they chose a little girl as most popular baby, and at Shawsheen a little boy won the honor. Both were one-year-olds.

Carol Anne Waldie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Waldie of Essex street, was chosen most popular at the Central, and Edward Dwyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred T. Dwyer of 5 Fletcher street, won the popularity contest in Shawsheen.

Prizes were awarded in various classes as follows:

Under one year: First, Annette Ruhl, entered by Margaret Ruhl; second, Roberta Hatch, entered by Calvin Hatch.

Under two: First, Carol Anne Waldie, entered by Doris Bradshaw; second, Earl Kelly, by June Moore, and third, Ethel Lynch, by John Lynch.

Under three years: First, Anne Lefebvre, entered by Patricia McLay; second, Gertrude Stewart, by David Vannett, and third, Paul Carey, by Barbara Johnson.

Under four years: First, Nancy White, by Theresa Collins, Glen Moore by Joan McLauchlan; third, Ruth Anne Frederickson, by Robert Frederickson.

Only first prizes were awarded at Shawsheen, and the winners in each of the divisions were: Under one year, Charles Woodbury, entered by Audrey Tompkins; under two years, Edward Dwyer, entered by Priscilla Tompkins; under three, Betty Caswell, entered by John Caswell, and under four, Andrea MacLachlan, entered by Mavis Twomey.

Hoop-Rolling in Vale

Down in the Vale they had no baby contest, but hoop-rolling provided considerable fun. John Edmunds was first in the finals, Arthur Marion second, and John Townsend third. Arthur White and George Nicoll were the other finalists.

Mrs. George Hunter of Lowell street and Miss Dorothy Farnum of No. Andover are spending a two weeks' vacation at Narragansett Bay and Long Island.

Local British To Invade Old Orchard

Old Orchard Beach in Maine is going to have a British invasion this Sunday. A train will leave Boston at 7:20 a. m., and stop at Andover, Lawrence, North Andover and Portsmouth, N. H., to pick up the invaders, hundreds of devotees of Great Britain who are going on an excursion to the beach to help raise funds for the cause. The stop at Andover will be at 8 a. m.

There will be a parade from the station to the beach, with the Old Orchard Legion band, Legion color guard, Chamber of Commerce board, Andover British War Veterans, members of the War Relief committee and the Clan MacPherson pipe band participating.

There will be special events on the beach, with sports for all; sixty prizes have been donated by Old Orchard merchants. Two loving cups are to be given members of a British submarine and a British battleship who are to play an exhibition soccer game.

On the ticket committee are: James Batty, William Gordon, Mrs. MacLay from Andover. Thomas Neil and George Addison are on the sports committee.

FRIDAY, JULY 25— Boxing and Babies

If you don't like boxing, you can go to Ballardvale to see a baby popularity contest, but if you do like boxing, you can try the Central and Shawsheen playgrounds tomorrow night. The youngsters will be divided into various age and weight classifications, with each bout to last no more than three rounds. All will be no decision contests. The events will get under way at 7:15.

At Shawsheen the girls will have a little fun with an O'Leary ball-bouncing game. At Ballardvale, where boxing bouts will be held the following Friday, babies will reign supreme tomorrow night in a duplication of the contests held at the other two playgrounds last week.

The annual doll show will be held at the Central playground next Fright night, and at Shawsheen village there will be a sports quiz.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Mr. Richard Ward of Lowell street recently celebrated his 87th birthday. A hamburg roast was held in the garden surrounding his home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Putnam and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ward, Miss Dora Ward, and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Newall and children. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Newall are great-grandchildren of Mr. Ward.

Miss Anne McCarthy of Main street is enjoying a week's visit with friends in Amesbury.

To Analyze Change In Telephone Poll

A group of three local persons were given access to the recent Public Utilities telephone poll this week to examine and analyze the returns. The count was accepted by the local group, and now an analysis will be made to ascertain why there was such a radical change in the two polls.

The commission itself has come to no decision on the matter.

May Shift Andover To Rogers District

Andover may yet land in the Lowell Congressional district now represented by Mrs. Rogers, although tentative plans have it in the Bates district. The question is now up before the General Court, and the chances of an amendment transferring Andover to the Rogers district seems very good.

ing comfortably at the Lawrence General Hospital following a recent operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Eaton of Spartansburg, S. C., were recent guests of Rev. and Mrs. Donald H. Savage.

Miss Mina Noyes of Lovejoy road left recently for Boulder, Colorado, where she has enrolled for the summer course at the University of Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morrissey, formerly of Lawrence, are now residing in their newly built home on Virginia road.

Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Putnam and Mary of Lowell street spent the week-end with the former's brother and his family in Barre, Vermont.

DEATHS

Funeral services for Percy O. Wilson were held in Lowell Saturday afternoon, with burial following in Lowell cemetery.

Mr. Wilson died last Thursday at the Lowell General hospital after a six weeks' illness. Born in Lowell 57 years ago, he had lived in Andover, at 36 Central street, the past two years.

He was assistant resident manager of the American Machine Exchange, and a member of the Oxford Lodge of Masons.

Mrs. Wilson (Emma Ogden) survives.

Henry Noyes Otis, a former resident of this town, died on Sunday, July 20, 1941, at his home in Danvers, Mass. Born in Boston, December 12, 1887, the son of Professor Charles Pomeroy Otis and Margaret Noyes Otis, he spent the years of his boyhood and youth in Andover. He graduated from Phillips Academy in 1905, from Yale University in 1909, and later from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. On May 31, 1919, he married Helen Batchelder of Amesbury, who survives him. Shortly after their marriage they settled in Danvers where they have lived since.

Henry Otis kept through life the love of the out-of-doors which was characteristic of his boyhood in Andover. Wise in the ways of Nature, he was able to depict its creatures with his brush and with his pen for the delight of others. As is frequently true of men who love such things, he was distinguished by simple tastes, quiet humor, warm sympathy, particularly for the enthusiasms of youth, loyalty to his friends, and deep religious faith. In his last years, when crippled by illness, he bore adversity with courage and cheerfulness. Quietly and without ostentation but "with honest-hearted love for God and man" he performed his daily tasks, enriching the lives of his friends by his personality and example.

CLOSE HOME SEASON

The local Legion Juniors closed their home season last night, losing 13 to 1 to Beverly. On Monday evening they lost to Peabody 14 to 2. The season's record shows a 14 defeats to one win average.

Tomorrow night the locals play at Marblehead.

Would You Help Send a Boy To A Ball Game?

How would you like to help some Andover youngster to see for the first time a major league baseball game? Last year the local V. F. W. post helped a number of Andover boys to enjoy this treat, and this year it hopes to double the number of boys, but it needs extra help. Anybody who would like to chip in a dollar or so is requested to send it to Robert V. Deyermond, 91 Elm street, or Alexander Blamire, 47 Enmore street.

The annual V. F. W. baseball picnic is to be held at Braves Field, at a game between the New York Giants and the Braves. Last year a bus carried 68 young Andover fans to see for the first time a big league game, with the post spending $40 for bus charges, etc.

The committee: Commander Ebersbach, Thomas Raidy, and William Snyder.

FRONT COVER

For those of you who are wondering who and why that pretty girl is on the cover, we hasten to tell you that she is Miss Dorothy Roberge, Miss Shawsheen of 1941—and what's more, she lives in Shawsheen. That's something to be pretty proud of, especially since she won the honor at Balmoral last Friday in competition with girls from all the localities surrounding the town. The judges who picked her were impartial, too. They were: Paul Dodge, Newburyport businessman; Levon Johnson of Boston, ex- producer of revues; and Jack Milland, Boston businessman. So you see, everything was fair and square. We think that Dorothy deserves the honor, don't you?

UNION CONGREGATIONAL CLOSES FOR MONTH

This Sunday's service in the Union Congregational church, Ballardvale, will be the last for the summer. Following this service, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Segerstrom, and his wife will leave for their annual vacation. Services will be resumed the first Sunday after Labor Day. In the meantime, members and friends are cordially invited to attend services in the Methodist church.

"Extra! Third Girl Slain"

If you happened to be driving through Reading last Monday evening, you would have noticed as you kept a wary eye on our neighbor's many traffic lights young boys scattered here and there bellowing forth: "Extra! Third Girl Slain!"

It can't happen here. We don't mean sex slayings can't happen here, for apparently they can happen anywhere as long as authorities deal lightly with potential sex slayers. But if the terrible thing that happened in Reading had happened in Andover, and then two other towns had experienced somewhat similar cases, no newspaper with a desire to stimulate its circulation by exploiting the cases could send newsboys into this town to "disturb the peace" by shouting: "Extra! Third Girl Slain!" Some of those papers which take an apparently unlimited view of the term "Freedom of the Press" have tried it here in Andover on occasion, but police hurried them off.

A good many of our much-vaunted freedoms are abused, for too many people forget that the rights given us by law and the Constitution are limited by the rights of other people. To see that those limits are properly safeguarded falls in many instances within the jurisdiction of the police departments of the various communities. For instance, the United States acknowledges a right to strike: any man or group of men who wish better conditions in their work may strike. That is their privilege, and yet there is another privilege: any man who doesn't want to strike has a right to work and has a right to expect that his life and his property will be safeguarded. Here again Andover's police have been very vigilant. In the textile strike of a few years ago, cars of picketers were ordered to get out of town and stay out; more recently cars containing striking bakery truck drivers have been ordered to keep going. In other towns where police have not done their duty as well as they might bakery truck drivers following their own desire to work were molested and their trucks damaged badly.

Andover is a better town for having a police department which insists that Jehovah Witness Sound Trucks, picketers and purveyors of scandal-filled yellow journals stay out of town. To allow these groups to exercise their so-called freedoms would be to deprive us of a number of our freedoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ward and son have returned to their home in Cumberland, Md. after spending the past week with Mrs. Russell Foster of Lowell street.

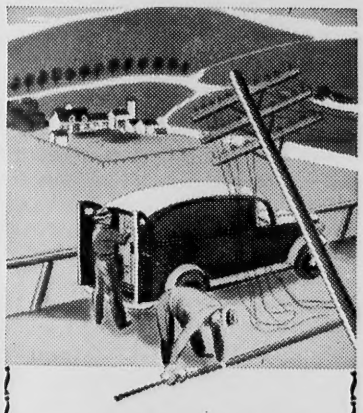
Pushed 39 Feet With Brakes On

A Gloucester car pulled up at a Lowell street roadside stand Sunday. Its owner, Alonzo Smith, pulled on the brakes, but suddenly the car started going again.

The motivating force, according to police reports, was a Connecticut car which rammed into the rear of the other car, pushing it 39 feet along, and nine feet off the roadway.

Mrs. Smith, 65, and Lillian Blachford, 75, of Gloucester, were injured, suffering contusions and abrasions, and Mr. Smith was shaken up. Both cars were badly damaged.

On August 4 the Connecticut operator will appear in District court, the case having been continued when local police expressed a desire to learn more about the injuries and their possible extent. The operator is reported to have claimed that he was following another car which suddenly swerved out and he did not notice the parked car in time to avoid hitting it.



WIRES DOWN!
You're on the air!

When a wholesale disaster destroys many miles of telephone line, your telephone calls can go through just the same. Not immediately, perhaps, but as soon as telephone trucks arrive at the broken ends of the line.... Portable two-way radios are set up, with gasoline motors and power generators; connections are made with the good wires . . . a switch is turned... and soon there's a "line," across a radio bridge.

This system has been developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories. New England Telephone crews take special study courses in the new emergency telephone technique . . . and rehearse its use out in the field all over New England at all seasons.

It's a part of the New England Telephone Company's program of preventing interruptions in your program of work and play.

You Don't Can Food!
You may, once in a while, to show your skill and make use of some plentiful food. Then you realize how much hard work is involved: how wonderful it is to just go to your grocer's and buy the best of foods, more perfectly canned than you can produce them for all your work. It's old fashioned too, to drudge over tub and board at home: the modern way is to send us your laundry . . .
